Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The rejection of claims 11 and 13 is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Schofield et al. (US 2003/0001734).

For claim 17, Schofield discloses an apparatus comprising an electronic automotive tire pressure monitor receiver configured to relearn associations between tire pressure transmitter ID codes and locations for vehicle tires based at least partially upon a user-supplied tire pressure change to each tire in a predetermined order (parag 0058, Ins 10-25; parag 130, Ins 13-25).

For claim 18, Schofield discloses a pressure monitor further configured to signal a user with pre-existing devices in the vehicle (parag 0062, Ins 11-14; Fig. 7).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-3, 5-9, and 11-16 are allowed.

Response to Remarks

5. Applicant's arguments filed June 10, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant argues as follows:

Schofield fails to disclose a tire inflation indicator system configured to relearn associations between tire pressure transmitter identification (ID) codes and locations for vehicle tires based at least partially upon a user-supplied tire pressure change to each tire in a predetermined order. In addition, Schofield fails to disclose a pressure monitor receiver configured to relearn associations between tire pressure transmitter ID codes and locations for vehicle tires.

Reference the rejection to claim 17. Schofield discloses a pressure monitor receiver configured to relearn associations between tire pressure transmitter ID codes and locations for vehicle tires. The controller receives and relearns tire pressure input signals that are unique to each wheel (parag 0058, Ins 21-23; parag 130, Ins 15-20). In addition, examples of user supplied tire pressure changes to each tire in a predetermined order include burping or rotating each tire (parag 0058, Ins 10-23).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
